BONALDO

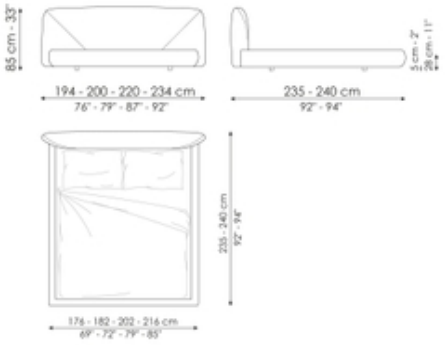

Holden

Designer: Massimo Castagna

The Holden bed is defined by the meeting of two essential elements: a generously sized headboard and a low, compact bed frame that outlines the profile of the bed along its entire perimeter.
The headboard is interrupted at the sides by an oblique cut that runs across the surface without breaking its continuity, a tailored detail that is simple yet visually distinctive.
The bed frame appears as a full, rounded volume, continuous along the entire perimeter. The recessed feet lift the bed off the ground, preserving the compactness and balance of the design while introducing a pleasing sense of lightness.
The upholstery, available in fabric, leather or eco-leather, enhances the design of the piece. In leather versions, the volume appears more compact and defined; fabric, on the other hand, emphasises softness, creating a more relaxed and welcoming feel.
Holden introduces an essential language to the sleeping area, composed of a few defining elements that create a precise balance. Its simplicity is only apparent: every detail stems from careful formal research and reflects a deliberate design choice.
