Lake

Designer: Gino Carollo

The concept behind the Lake family of wall mirrors is the result produced by the same finish on different materials, with different layers that visually create an object with a powerful decorative component. This mirror consists of three bands: the first one takes up the most space and consists of the mirror; laid over it is a central band of metal (painted bronze or painted lead), while the lower band is of glass, in the same finish as the metal. The Lake collection consists of three mirrors, each characterised by a different shape and size.
