Isabey

Designer: Gabriele & Oscar Buratti

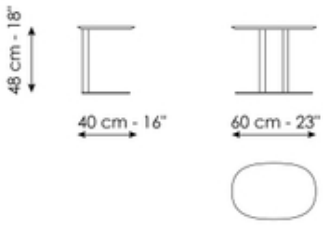

Designed by Gabriele and Oscar Buratti, the Isabey family of low coffee tables revisits the principle of the twin supporting column in a contemporary key: the traditional vertical element becomes a close twin tubular support, defining the identity of a collection that is divided into square and rectangular shapes with rounded corners, asymmetrical bases and variable heights in a balance between mass and lightness, stability and suspension.

Designed for both living and sleeping areas, the Isabey low coffee tables offer versatile support solutions, configurable as mobile and stackable satellites. The design encourages movement in that each element can be moved, combined or overlapped, transforming each space with complete freedom.

The high quality finishes – marble, wood, glass and ceramic – introduce sophisticated contrasts between opaque or transparent, warm or cold, and smooth or textured surfaces. The different materials and the variation in heights allow a harmonious dialogue with environments presenting different purposes, offering a versatile and transversal interpretation of the furnishing design plan.
