BONALDO

Olos bench

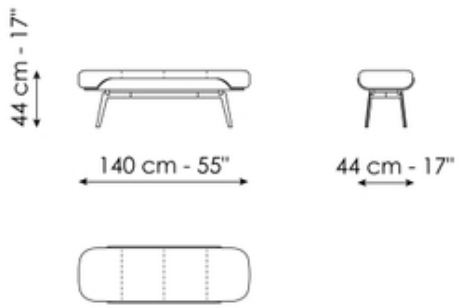

Designer: Mauro Lipparini

The Olos family also consists of a bench notable for its generous padding, while what really catches the attention is the side detail in curved wood, the common thread that runs through the whole collection and which hints at Nordic inspiration with its sober details and harmony of volumes. The end-of-bed bench for bedroom is supported by slender metal legs that fit discreetly into the overall design.
The Olos bench completes the collection designed by Mauro Lipparini for the sleeping area, making it even more comfortable and functional.
