BONALDO

Rabat

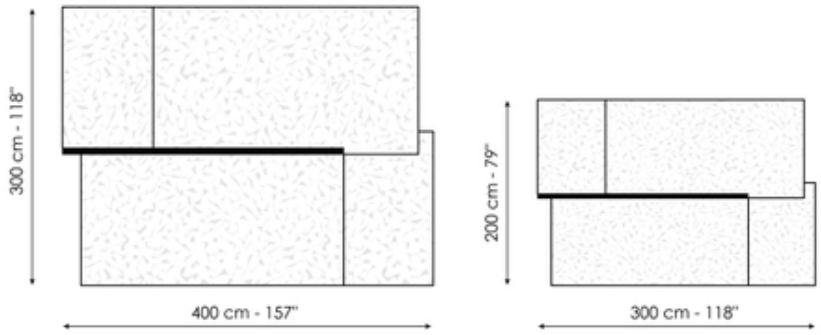

The Rabat rug is inspired by abstractionist artistic currents, in which geometry and variable compositions are the distinctive features. The rug combines different finishes, shades and shapes that emphasize its rigour and aesthetic research. An almost interrupted central profile, made of darker Tencel, vertically divides the carpet into two non-identical parts. Furthermore, the combination of different materials such as wool and Tencel underline a dynamism that contrasts with the geometric rigour of its shape, creating levels that are staggered but still in perfect harmony with each other. The Rabat rug furnishes any living and dining space in a welcoming style but can also be used in the sleeping area.
