BONALDO

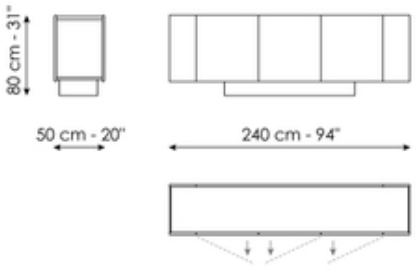

Spy

Designer: Marconato and Zappa

The Spy sideboard combines a substantial volume with details that lighten its presence: the thin edge outlining the perimeter of the top, the compact base and the open side compartments all contribute to creating a sense of lightness, balancing solid and empty spaces.
The opening of the two side panels provides an additional support surface, enhancing its practicality and making it suitable also as a space-dividing element. Spy thus goes beyond the traditional function of a sideboard, becoming a piece capable of organising space while also showcasing objects left on display.
Spy is available in a monomaterial version, entirely in lacquered wood, or in a multimaterial version with top and side panels in ceramic, where the linearity of the structure is combined with the expressive richness of the surfaces.
